

ADMIRAL EVANS WILL ARRIVE HERE SOON

AND WILL RELIEVE ADMIRAL BARKER AS COMMANDER OF
THE COMBINED NORTH ATLANTIC
FLEET—WILL LEAVE WASH-INGTON ON MARCH 28.

Admiral Robley D. Evans, who has formerly visited Pensacola, will reach here during the latter portion of this month, when he will assume command of the North Atlantic fleet. The admiral will leave Washington on March 28th and will consequently reach this port a few days after the arrival of the combined fleet.

Admiral Evans is to relieve Admiral Barker as commander-in-chief of the North Atlantic fleet, and the former will use the battleship Maine as a flagship instead of the Kearsarge, which has been used by the admiral of the fleet for a number of years. The changing of the flag is an occasion that is very interesting and there will be no doubt be a large number of Pensacola residents to witness the event.

Accompanying Admiral Evans to Pensacola will be Captain Pillsbury, who will be the chief of staff of the admiral. The latter is also well known and liked in Pensacola.

As Admiral Evans will leave Washington on March 28th, it is very probable that the combined fleet will reach the port about that date, if not sooner, and will drop anchor in the harbor until the flag is transferred.

The vessels are not expected to reach here until about Monday, as they have been delayed in Havana for several days.

PROSPECTS FOR PEACE
NOW CONSIDERED GOOD.

The women and children are reported to be leaving Harbin and the business houses are closing. The stationary hospitals are being moved back and the entire railroad east and south of Tientsin is being prepared for the next stage of the war.

The conviction exists that General Kuroki is now directing toward the northeast for the investment of Vladivostok changing his base for that purpose to Genoa.

While the Manchurian railway is employed to supply the main army, in its advance on Harbin, the Japanese seem still partial to the plan of keeping close to their sea bases and instead of following the Russians some of the military experts are of the opinion that the Japanese may relieve the pressure upon General Linewitch and thus induce him to concentrate in the region between Sontoupe and Tie Pass for another battle. But throughout the campaign all the prognostications of experts regarding the plans of the Japanese, consistently fattening upon the victories achieved.

is the Citadel of Hope.

For all care and suffering; for all the hours of toil, the mother is repaid in the love of the beautiful young life she has nurtured and cared for.

Are all mothers wise mothers?

Do they take the twilight hours and draw out the confidence of the growing girl?

Do they warn her, study her, and instruct her?

Do they try to find the cause of the sudden gusts of temper, the headaches, and the hours of fear that are a part of the life of a growing girl?

Mothers should do these things, and where they find disease, or lack of development, they should seek the proper remedy.

MOTORBOAT RACES MIAMI TO NASSAU

NEW YORKERS ALREADY FIGUR-ING UPON EVENTS FOR THE SEASON OF 1935-6

New Yorkers are already planning events for the Florida season of 1935-6, is shown by the following from a recent issue of the New York Telegram:

Considerable interest is being taken by the motor boat racing enthusiasts in the plans for an ocean race of 150 miles across the Gulf Stream. That has been projected for next winter. The idea is to start the race from Miami, Fla., and run to Nassau, New Providence, in the Bahamas.

On this trip the boats would practically enter harbor immediately after crossing the forty-two miles of the Gulf Stream, and as that current of warm water would be crossed at right angles, the race would be a much less strenuous one than would be a race to Cuba, in which the boats would have to buck against the current of the Gulf Stream.

The race is an inviting one for the winter season, because of the attractions of Nassau as a winter resort and the existence there of several big hotels of the Flamingo system. H. E.
Bemis, of Nassau, who is a motor boat enthusiast, himself is the originator of the project, and he thinks that such a race for a challenge trophy could be made a standard annual event. It is expected that A. D. Proctor Smith and most of the competitors in the heavy boat class at the Palm Beach carnival would enter such a race.

Cleveland, March 24.—Mrs. Cassie Chadwick swore this afternoon at the bankruptcy proceedings that her debts do not exceed seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars, including bonuses to bankers and others for securing loans.

Said loans were secured by her from Robert D. Newton, of Brookline, Mass., one for $75,000 and one for $50,000, for which she gave a note for $100,000.
From J. W. Friend, of Pittsburgh, she borrowed $75,000 and gave a note for $150,000. She enumerated several other loans made in a similar manner.

Fleet Sails from Havana For Pensacola To-day ships to Havana ended to-day with a big American demonstration on the sea front and a carnival ball at the Cuban Athenaeum.

The North Atlantic Squadron will appear in front of Havana to-morrow and there be joined by the visiting fleet, after which the combined fleet will proceed to Pensacola for regular annual record target practice.

WATERS OF BISCAYNE BAY AND ATLANTIC CONNECTED

Canal Which Means so Much to Miami Completed in Presence of Large Crowd of Enthusiastic Sightseers.

The Miami News of Sunday contained the following article reprinted from its issue of March 15:

March 14th, 1905, will go on record as one of the great days in the history of Miami.

It marked another step in the direction of securing deep water and which will result in future years in making Miami one of the chief seaports of the South.

Our readers are familiar with the details of the dredging operations of the Florida East Coast Railway and the general government, and on which the canal through the peninsula opposite Miami, thus connecting the waters of Biscayne Bay with the waters of the Atlantic ocean, through a new channel.

For some months past the government contract, that of dredging a canal through the peninsula, has been in progress.

Yesterday morning when a point had been reached in the work where only a few feet of sand separated the bay and ocean, a large crowd numbering about 500 persons assembled at the scene of operations and waited patiently for the climax.

Among those present were the Mayor and members of the city council of Miami, Mr. R. W. Parsons, Second Vice-President and Mr. J. E. Ingraham Third Vice-President of the Florida East Coast Railway, the members of the local press and a large number of citizens and guests from the several hotels.

Waited Patiently.
The large company of people waited patiently on the beach and watched the operation of the dredge which worked leisurely for the reason that it was not desired to cut away the narrow strip of beach which separated bay and ocean until ebb-tide, when the water in the bay would be higher than the ocean level and would flow out, carrying a great quantity of sand which, with reversed conditions, would have washed back into the canal.

The patience with which the crowd waited for these natural conditions to come about was remarkable. Unfortunately there seemed to be a very general impression that the waters would be united at about noon, so very few thought it necessary to carry lunch baskets and with the exception of the light refreshments provided at the pavilion the crowd had no dinner.

Everyone was interested in seeing the "cut" made, however, and excitement ran high when at 3:30 o'clock the big dredge began final operations.
Foot by foot it cut the sand away and was finally in position to scoop out a gully in the sand and through which a small rivulet from the canal found its way into the ocean. A shout went up from the crowd. One more movement would have set the canal to flowing like a mill-race into the ocean —but alas! the dredge broke.

Finished With Shovels.
It required half an hour to make the repairs. In the meantime, Captain Potter brought two shovels which were eagerly grasped by two small boys who used them in deepening the opening. The strength of the boys soon failed, and Mr. S. A. Belcher and Mr. Boss took the shovels, which were in turn taken by Mayor Sewell and President of the City Council, F.
W. Hahn, and then by Mr. Jas. Girtman and Mr. Belcher.

Sufficient sand was removed by these gentlemen to start the water to flowing freely and then a rowboat in which were seated Chief Engineer Thompson, Capt. Potter, of the yacht Linnet, and Mr. Richard Augenbaugh passed through the cut and out into the surf.

The interesting feature of the day —seeing the dredge cut a wide outlet to the ocean—was then about to take place but the declining sun warned the crowd that it was time to be getting back to the city, and few remained to see anything further.

In almost less time than it takes to write it the boats were filled with people and were speeding back to the city.

MARSHAL NEY'S DEATH.

The Dramatic End of the Brave French Soldier.

Ney refused naturally to place himself on his knees and to allow his eyes to be bandaged. He only asked Commandant Saint-Bias to show him where he was to stand. He faced the platoon, which held their muskets at "the recover," and then, in an attitude which I shall never forget, so noble was it, calm and dignified, without any swagger, he took off his hat, and, profiting by the short moment which was caused by the adjutant de place having to place himself on one side and to give the signal for firing, he pronounced these few words, which I heard very distinctly, "Frenchmen, I protest against my sentence, my honor!" At these last words, as he was placing his hand on his heart, the detonation was heard.
He fell as if struck by lightning. A roll of the drums and the cries of "Vive le roi!" by the troops formed in square brought to a close this lugubrious ceremony.

This fine death made a great impression on me. Turning to Augustin de la Rochejaquelein, colonel of the grenadiers, who was by my side and who deplored, like myself, the death of the brave des braves, I said to him, "There, my dear friend, is a grand lesson in learning to die."—"The Empire and the Restoration," General Rochechouart.

Success Prolongs Life.
It is now well known that increased complexity of life with increased expenditure distinctly aids longevity.
Luxury, "the fertile parent of a whole family of diseases," modifies it greatly, of course, but this is a manageable factor, says the London Chronicle. We have only to recall personal experience to realize the force of intellectual stimulation. The interest of sport will sus-tain men without fatigue for distances they otherwise could not traverse. The excitement of strife will often mask the presence of wounds. Self forgetfulness in all the walks of life, under the stress of love, chivalry or accepted duty, doubles human endurance. Success gives new vitality, new powers, and this is another name for new life.

A HAPPY MOTHER

WEATHERFORD, TEXAS.
May 14, 1902.

Before my baby was born I was in great misery. I was just able to be about but just as soon as I began to take Wine of Cardui, which had been recommended to me, I felt much better. In fact I feel that if it had not been for this medicine I would not have been strong enough to live through childbirth. But that was made comparatively easy by taking your medicine for four months before baby came.
Wine of Cardui restored my health as I took it two months afterward. I cannot speak too highly of Wine of Cardui and I am glad to endorse it.

Wm. C. Wood
TREASURER, YOUNG MATRON'S CLUB.

Wine of Cardui is a powerful tonic which acts on the generative organs of women, regulating menstruation and giving tone and strength to the organs which inflammation and weakness have affected. It cures nineteen out of every twenty cases of bearing-down pains or ovarian trouble.
Wine of Cardui cures barrenness and aids the mother in conserving her strength for the ordeal of childbirth. After that event the Wine prevents dangerous flooding and helps mothers to quick recovery. Wine of Cardui is the one medicine a mother should use before and after childbirth.
All druggists sell $1.00 bottles Wine of Cardui.
